Heather Almond joined Madison Marquette in 2020 as Executive Vice President, Retail Services. In this role, Heather leads the property management and marketing strategy for the firm's owned and serviced retail portfolio. She brings over 20 years experience from two global leaders in the commercial and shopping center real estate industry.

Prior to joining Madison Marquette, Heather led Property Marketing for CBRE's Retail Property Management platform and drove strategy, best practices and customized service solutions for clients with retail properties entrusted to CBRE. Under her leadership, CBRE managed retail properties received numerous marketing excellence awards. Heather's career includes extensive experience with flagship, mixed-use and lifestyle shopping centers and she spent a significant portion of her career with Westfield Corporation. Heather has a talent for developing teams and execution which is reflected in her prior roles, including center management leader for the iconic Westfield San Francisco Centre and field marketing leadership for 38 shopping centers in the United States.

Heather believes strongly in being an active leader in the community and has served on numerous boards and committees. Heather is an active volunteer in the International Council of Shopping Centers.
